These popular entertainers will soon leave Washington for their summer home in Hopedale, Mass., whence they go in a few weeks to Europe, where they will pass the entire summer. The drawing-rooms were exquisitely decorated with growing plants and spring flowers, and masses of American Beauty roses decked the supper table, on which many choice pieces of gold and silver plate were displayed, which Mrs. Draper inherited from her father, the former American minister to Spain, and which she purchased while her husband was stationed as American ambassador in Rome. Both General and Mrs. Draper were in their most genial mood, and the occasion was one long to be remembered.

Mrs. Draper's toilet was her favorite color, white with diamond ornaments. She received with her husband in the ballroom. There was no dancing, but the Marine Band played throughout the evening.
